

ROADS ADMIT SOME MEN SHOULD HAVE INCREASED WAGES

Statement Made at Morn- ing Meeting of Labor Board

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 17.—Wage advances should be granted to many railroad workers to enable them to meet the high cost of living the Association of Railway Executives declared today in its opening statement before the Railroad Labor Board.

E. T. Whiter, chairman of the conference committee of rail managers of the executive's association, told the board that some part of the wage demands being made by 2,000,000 railroad employees probably would be found justified by the rise in living costs.

Agreement of the railroads themselves that at least a part of the men should have more money is expected to go far toward expediting settlement of the controversy which culminated last month in a series of strikes.

The demands now before the board aggregate more than $1,000,000,000 a year, in addition to a billion dollar advance during the war and a $300,000,000 advance in the two years prior to government control, according to Mr. Whiter. He presented figures to show that the railway payroll had increased from 35.5 per cent of the gross earnings of the roads in 1915 to 34.6 per cent last year.

Some Need Increases.
"We appreciate fully," Mr. Whiter said, "that the increases received by some employees in the last five years have not been commensurate with the increased cost of living. This fact must be given consideration by the board in determining which of these employees are fairly entitled to increases."

"We appreciate also that there are other employees who are receiving rates which cannot be considered at all low in an absolute sense, yet which do not compare favorably in some localities with wages paid similar occupation in outside industries; and we further appreciate that the discrepancies are such that the railroad cannot under present conditions in such localities hold these employees for their very necessary work unless some increases are given."

"We cannot of course hope to compete with outside rates, cent for cent per hour, nor should this be considered necessary. Consideration must be given to the greater regularity of employment in railroad service the greater stability of railroad rates of wages and to other attractive features of railroad employment."

"The great increase in the cost of living, Mr. Whiter said, was an evident fact and wage adjustments must take this factor into account. But, he said the peak in the cost of living had probably been reached, and that the board must consider the situation which would be brought about when it declined. On this subject he said:

Costs Must Decrease.
"With the forces now at work to bring about a reduction in the high living cost, it is next to impossible to believe that the peak in the increase has not been reached. A procedure that would fix railroad wages permanently on the basis of the present living cost could hardly be defended. Unless some automatic principle is embodied in the award that will readjust rates as living costs go back or unless something is incorporated that will provide for a review of the award later, any wage rates may now be fixed would practically permanent rates."

"It is not at all intended here to say that any wage rates that your board might award to meet the increased cost of living should be taken away again as fast as, and in the same percentage as, the cost of living comes down. But if as costs of living go down toward the pre-war basis, a proportionate decrease in wage rates was provided for, the employees would be better off, as compared with pre-war conditions, in spite of such reductions."

Public Must Pay.
The new transportation act provides, Mr. Whiter said, that any substantial increase in wages must result in increased rates to the public for railroad service. For every $100,000,000 added to the payroll about three per cent must be added to freight rates, he said. The carriers are now before the Interstate Commerce Commission asking for an increase of 25 per cent, largely to provide for the billion dollar payroll advances under government control and operation.

Following the reading of the executives' statement the railroad board adjourned until tomorrow morning.

All members were present at the opening session.

DIXON P. O. IS PLACED IN FIRST CLASS BY DEPT.

Postmaster Hogan Re- ceives Notice on Saturday

Postmaster W. F. Hogan Saturday received notice from the post office department that the Dixon post office, because of its big growth of business during 1919, had been made a first-class office, and that increases in salaries would result for employees.

It will be remembered that in January announcement was made that during the year 1919 the stamp sales of the Dixon office had exceeded $40,000, the minimum limit for first-class office, and the prediction was made at that time that before July 1 the office would be put into the first class.

Carriers' Anniversary.
The elevation of the Dixon post office to the first class comes simultaneously with the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the establishment of free carrier service in this city on July 1, 1890. The first carriers were Louis Atkins, who is still in the service, Thomas Hoban and Herbert W. Morris.

GERMANY MUST PAY TO ALLIES THIRTY BILLION

Reparation Decided on by Anglo-French Conference

Paris, May 17.—It is understood in official circles here that the Anglo-French conference at Hythe, which closed yesterday, decided that the sum total which Germany should pay as reparation would be fixed at 120,000,000,000 marks gold, (approximately $30,000,000,000).

It is also understood that it was decided Germany would be permitted to issue bonds covering her indebtedness to the allies payable in annual installments.

Such action, it is pointed out, would enable France to discount a part of her claim on Germany and permit her to settle her debts to the United States and the allies.

These decisions, together with the action taken postponing the Spa conference with the Germans to June 21, comprise the definite conclusions reached by the French and British premiers and their advisers, according to the understanding.

All the other details of the arrangement remain to be settled by the financial delegates who are still working upon them.

A special conference of the allies will be held at Oostend later to consider financial questions among the allies it is stated. This meeting will be independent of the League of Nations conference at Brussels.

The decisions thus reported have been favorably received in French circles though the sum to be paid as reparation is much lower than the figure France desired.

GOVERNOR VERA CRUZ ESCAPED FROM REBELS AFTER BEING PRISONER

Is Believed Heading to Join Carranza in Mountains.

BULLETIN

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 17.—General Pablo Gonzalez has refused to recognize "the plan of Agua Prieta" under which the entire regime of Carranza would be repudiated, according to the Mexico City newspaper reports received here today by the state department.

General Gonzalez agreed, however, to permit Governor De La Huerta, of Sonora, to convene the Mexican congress or the permanent commission of congress in extra session to name a provisional president. Steps have been taken at Mexico City to carry out the agreement.

The agreement was reached at a conference of Generals Gonzalez and Obregon and other generals in Mexico City on May 12, and under it Governor De La Huerta, assumes command of the "Liberal constitutional army" under General Obregon and the "Liberal revolutionary army" under General Gonzalez.

General Gonzalez' objections to the "plan of Agua Prieta" were regarded by officials and the defacto government agents here as little more than technical.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Vera Cruz, May 17.—General Candido Aguilar, governor of the state of Vera Cruz and son-in-law of President Carranza, virtually a prisoner of revolutionary forces near Orizaba for the past week, escaped last night. It is believed he is trying to join Carranza, who fled into the mountains on Friday, and so far as known has not as yet been located. General Aguilar has with him about 300 followers.

Pursuit of Carranza is being vigorously pushed by Generals Pedro Sanchez and Higinio Aguilar, leaders of the revolutionary forces. General Medina left here today over the Inter-Oceanic railroad for the purpose of intercepting Carranza if he attempts to reach the state of Vera Cruz.

Lacked Food and Water
Lack of food and water lowered the morale of Carranza's men so that their defeat at the hands of the revolutionists was a comparatively easy task, says a dispatch in the battle zone.

When revolutionary troops swept on the capital, Carranza decided to flee, clinging to the idea that it was necessary for him to reach Vera Cruz and establish his executive powers. His trains carried 10,000 men and a large amount of war munitions, in addition to the presidential suite and government funds and archives.

During the flight from Mexico City there was little for the soldiers to eat and the men suffered terribly from thirst.

General Liberado Lara Torres, who was wounded in the fighting on May 13 and was later brought to this city for treatment, died yesterday.

TELEGRAPH RESTORED

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 17.—Cable communication with Mexico City has been restored. The Mexican telegraph company, operating the cable from Galveston to Mexico City via Vera Cruz, notified the state department today that it had one land wire in order between the capital and Vera Cruz and would begin moving the load of accumulated messages immediately. It was expected that another wire would be in operation before the end of the day.

The company's land wires were down in the fighting that took place between Carranza's army and the revolutionary forces near Rinconado.

DANIELS SAYS SIMS WOULD PRUSSIANIZE NAVY IF HE COULD

Declares Elimination of Ci- vilian Secretary is Admiral's Desire

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 17.—Secretary Daniels today let go a verbal broadside against the advocates of a general staff for the navy declaring that they sought to "Prussianize" the navy department and make the civilian secretary a "rubber stamp."

He told the senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war that "one of Rear Admiral Sims' chief object in writing his letter of Jan. 7 and bringing about this investigation was to curtail the power of the secretary and remove the navy, so far as possible, from civilian control."

"Running like a thread through most of the evidence that has been given before the committee has been advocacy of the general staff for the conduct of the American navy and elimination of civilian control," said Mr. Daniels. "Some of the officers have frankly avowed their advocacy of Prussianizing the navy."

About the only piece of advice Secretary George Von Myer gave him when he succeeded him, Mr. Daniels asserted was the admonition that there were officers in the navy who wished less power for the civilian secretary and more for themselves.

"Power lies here," Mr. Daniels said. Myer told him as he pointed to the secretary's desk "and it should remain here."

He did not fully understand what his predecessor meant until a few months later when Admiral Blake and other disciples of the Von Tirpitz system of naval control sought to organize the American navy on the "Prussian plan," Secretary Daniels said.

Rear Admiral Sims' original charges against the navy department showed hostility toward certain officers who directed naval operations during the war, the naval secretary declared, adding that "the evidence has shown a desire to discredit the secretary of the navy because he was not a 'rubber stamp.'"

If congress wished to depart from the "traditional American policy," of civilian control of the navy it should do so directly and clearly and without pretense, said Mr. Daniels, by making an admiral secretary of the navy and a member of the president's cabinet. That would be the frank and open way to do it rather than to put some Sims in control of the navy with a nominal secretary as his clerk, messenger boy and "rubber stamp."

"If this committee desires to raise that issue, I am perfectly willing to go to congress and the country with it and let the American people and their chosen representatives make the decision."

Escape of Twelve Prisoners at Illinois Honor Farm Sunday

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Joliet, Ill., May 17.—Prison authorities today planned to guard the prison honor farm to prevent a repetition of the wholesale escapes of convicts here Saturday and Sunday night. Twelve men, all from the same bunkhouse are at large. But one has been located. He is William Jackson, killed on the third rail line near Wheaton.

Three men left the honor farm Saturday. Last night shortly after the check at 9 o'clock, nine more convicts from the same bunkhouse left the farm.

There were no guards at the prison farm. There was nothing spectacular in the escape. The departure of the convicts was not discovered until 11 o'clock check.

Fearing that a stampede may result at the honor farm, authorities are today planning a temporary guard system to replace the honor system in effect at the farm.

I. C. C. May Direct Freight Traffic to Relieve Congestion

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 17.—The nation's railroads swamped with business, and not yet on their feet after the long period of federal control, turned hopelessly to the government today for relief.

With reports from industrial centers showing several hundred thousand cars held up at junctions and in transit because of insufficient equipment and labor, the Interstate Commerce Commission was expected to head the appeal of the carriers and take charge of a situation admittedly grave.

Although desperate efforts have been made in the last week to clear up the tangle of freight, railroad officials said there was slight hope of early improvement.

So great is the traffic congestion, reports say, that there is immediate danger of wholesale closing of big industrial plants and the consequent cut in production.

Should the commission find that the emergency justifies it, orders taking virtually complete control of the movement of freight, probably will be issued today. The first step would be the issuance priority orders for shipment of coal.

Curtailement of passenger service has been considered by the roads to expedite freight movement but officials said this would be done only as a last resort.

Four Chicago Boys Are Taken Back Home

Harry Martin, alias Martin Fitch; John Myler, alias John Fitzgerald; Bernard Magren, alias Bernard Duffy, and John Keefe, alias John Warner, the four 16-year-old Chicago lads who were taken in custody by Officer Winters on Friday evening, were taken back home yesterday. Juvenile court on Friday morning, the Sheriff's office police station, came to Dixon yesterday morning and returned with the quartette in the afternoon.

The boys are all on bonds on charges ranging from incorrigibles to automobile thefts. Their cases are booked to be tried in the juvenile court on Friday of this week. On May 9, they are thought to have stolen a Buick automobile and the next day burglarized a store, taking revolvers, rifles, 200 rounds of ammunition and $155 in cash. The loot for the most part has been recovered. In the district in which the boys live about a dozen burglaries were committed prior to May 12 when they were apprehended and since that time no cases have been reported. They were at liberty on bonds signed by their parents, but on their return will be obliged to furnish real estate bonds in order to have their liberty until the date of their hearing.

BRITISH LAND TROOPS IN IRELAND TO STOP CONTINUED RIOTING

Two Thousand Soldiers Landed in Cork—More in Other Counties

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Londonderry, Ireland, May 17.—Rioting last night between Nationalist and Unionist mobs was even fiercer than Saturday's fighting.

Groups of men and women followed an exchange of party cries with stone and bottle throwing. More than one hundred revolver shots followed. A former soldier named Doherty was killed and three others were wounded. When the hostilities broke out the police in the disturbed area were withdrawn and for a few hours mob law was supreme.

Doherty was passing along Orchard street with a friend when a shot rang out. He ran some distance and then fell, fatally wounded.

Corn Prices Showed Decline This Morn.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 17.—Declines in the prices of corn took place today largely as a result of predictions that the Interstate Commerce Commission would soon use emergency measures to move grain more rapidly. The fact that grain receipts here today had somewhat increased was also a bearish factor. Selling, however, developed only moderate volume. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2 cent advance, with July 1.78 1/2 to 1.79 and September 1.65 to 1.65 1/2 were followed by a decided setback all around.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. After opening to 2 1/2¢ higher including July at 92 1/2 to 93¢, the market underwent a material sag. Provisions weakened with grain and hogs. Buyers were scarce. Subsequently, covering by shorts brought about rallies which however failed to hold. The close was heavy to 2¢ net lower with July 1.76 1/2 to 1.76 1/2 and Sept. 1.63 1/2 to 1.63 1/2.

FORMER DIXON PASTOR DELIVERED SERMON IN NEW YORK ON EASTER

Dr. J. Fort Newton's Sermon Published in Church Paper.

A recent issue of The Universalist Leader contained the following Easter sermon delivered at the Church of the Divine Paternity in New York City by Rev. J. Fort Newton, D. D., formerly pastor of the Dixon Peoples' Church. Dr. Newton's subject was "Those one before," and the sermon was as follows:

"That disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, 'It is the Lord!'" John 21:7.

There is about this narrative an air of naturalness which sets it apart from other such accounts. It has a restraint, a dignity, a delicacy, and, what is a vividness of human detail which give it every mark of authenticity.

Its human color and its awful yet tender disclosure blend as naturally as earth and sky on the horizon. No imagined account known to me gives anything like the same impression of validity in beauty. Always it is so in the Bible, and especially in the New Testament, in which the unseen mingles naturally, softly, benignly, with our mortal life, now like a gentler air touching our temples, now as imperceptible as ether. One has only to read some of the apocryphal records to see the difference in attitude, as well as in style.

After a night of fruitless labor the disciples described a figure walking on the shore in the morning light. At first, he it noted, they did not know him. That is an eloquent fact, suggestive of many things, and just what might have been expected in such an event. It is often so with us here. Friends return after years of absence so greatly altered that we look at them for a time with unrecalling eyes. Gradually after a while, they are disclosed. Some peculiarity of gesture or manner, some tone of voice, some familiar expression, and we see the old face in the new. At Emmaus the disciples recognized Jesus in the familiar act of breaking bread. Note also, on the lake at dawn, that it was the man nearest to him in natural affection and spiritual affinity—that disciple whom Jesus loved—who knew him first. It was John, the seer, who gave vision to Peter, the man of action. So it is always; but the suggestion here is very significant of the power of love to penetrate the disguises of life and death. Ulysses returned after his wanderings and was unrecognized, save by his old dog Argus, and, later by his old nurse. Had his mother been present, no doubt she would have known the bronzed and bearded figure at the door.

Often is it life, not death, that changes us past love and knowledge. Dickens has a story of an old woman, withered and infirm, sitting by the grave of her lover, talking with a child who finds her there. The child eyes her curiously as she tells her tale of love, and asks, timidly, if her lover was an old man. The woman draws from her bosom a worn locket and turns to the child the picture of the young man, radiant in all the first glow of youth, and facing him a maiden of eighteen, fair as a summer day. "There we are, dear," she said softly; "would you take that smiling girl for the old women at your side?" When the tell-tale eyes of the child answered, she murmurs, bitterly: "No, no; there is no trace of the girl he loved left in me. If he saw me at the grave he would never know me. And he is as young as ever." Yet her love was still young, and if she had thought of it more deeply perhaps she would have learned a deeper truth. For we are clad in veils; and it is the spirit of our friend that we love. Often we do not really know a friend until we see in the apocalypse of death, as Tennessee saw Hallam as one transfigured and exalted. It is permitted to us to take this familiar fact as a parable, if not as a prophecy, of what will be true when death has removed the masks which hide us one from another.

The testimony of the Bible in regard to the hope of recognition in the life beyond is most impressive, and a little puzzling at first. It is confident, but not curious, and its reticence is very eloquent. If we except a few intimations, such as the Transfiguration scene and the words of the Master to the man who died with him, "This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise," the writers of the Bible have hardly a word, hardly a thought, to bestow upon the subject. It is almost the same in Christian literature, in which the direct references to this haunting hope are surprisingly meager. Why should it be so? Is it because the writers of the Bible did not believe that we shall meet and know our friends again? No, no; apparently it is rather because it never occurred to them that any one would doubt it. In the New Testament, at least it is everywhere taken for granted, as in the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, where it is assumed as an obvious fact. The whole tendency of its teaching so clearly implies that we shall know and be known that there is no need to affirm it.

Jesus taught the continuity of life here and hereafter, and that we begin there where we left off here. Death, in his thought, is no such break as it seems to be. It does not destroy the soul, nor does it denude it, making the after-life a pale shadow of our life here, as the old Greeks feared. The change which takes place in death is only in the scene of life and in its conditions, not in its reality and in unity. Indeed, the eternal life may be entered into now, death being only a sleep from which we wake to a fuller life, free of the fatigues of earth. As St. Paul puts it, death is abolished. If we are nowhere told that families will be grouped there as they are here, we are told that God is our Father and we are His family.

Always it is to a richer, more abundant life that we go, where truth will be more vivid and love more real. Now we see through a glass darkly; then face to face. Life is to be better farther on; fuller in its fellowships, happier in its realizations, more homelike even than it is now. It will surprise us, fulfilling our most daring hopes and our holiest dreams—such is the witness of the Bible.

NOW COMES THE SIX-WHEEL TRUCK

It is the creation of engineers at the Goodyear tire plant, whose original idea was to design a truck that could carry a heavier load on smaller tires—pneumatics, rather than solids. Out of this grew the new truck.

Not only has the truck a heavier carrying capacity on smaller tires, but its designers say it has greater braking ability, more operating radius, better traction, and reduces axle weight.

Instead of two giant 48x12 pneumatic tires, weighing 398 pounds each, this truck has four 40x8 pneumatics, weighing 119½ pounds each, thus saving 279 pounds in tire weight.

Traction and flexibility of the tires are given by the designers as constituting the reasons for the tandem wheels to turn curves easily.

Not satisfied with this achievement, the designers are continuing their experiments with the eight-wheel truck as their goal.

Don't Slouch at Wheel
To start your machine with the ease and grace necessary to keep your motor in good shape, it is important to sit up at the wheel. Slouching brings with it, jerky starts, which mean abuse to the motor, clutch, transmission, axles and tires. Besides, are you really at ease while slouching at the wheel?

Our Candidate for President
FRANK O. LOWDEN

BE PATIENT

Let's be patient with France.

France owes the United States some billions of dollars. This was loaned during the war so that France might halt the tide of Hun aggression which threatened the ruin of world freedom.
Now there are certain American financial interests eager to prod France of her debt. They want the money. They insist that this government go about collecting it. They want their "pound of flesh" and want it right away.

France had a hard row to hoe in that war. It was the hardest of all wars, British, American, Russian, Italian. The war cost France 600-600 industrial workers, and as many buildings were destroyed.

The war reduced France's wheat production 67 per cent; sank 30 per cent of her merchant marine; cut her coal production nearly a half, and made serious inroads upon production
in every industry save that of war.

Peace found France nearest of all nations to the precipice of economic ruin. If America is impatient in the matter of payment now, France will be hurled over the precipice. No man alive knows what that would bring to the rest of the world. Better not do it.

Premier Millerand has said:
"We do not request cancellation of our debts. We only ask time to breathe and recover our strength. Our propositions are those which any debtor would feel right in making in the interest of both himself and his creditors."

That is little enough to ask, isn't it?
Time to breathe!

NEWSPAPER SCIENCE

"Newspaper science" is generally scorned by scientists, for they are accustomed to read technical books and journals, where things are told with great care and precision. But most ordinary people are not readers of technical books; and if it were not for the newspapers and the movies, they would get nothing in the way of science at all.

But when a reader takes more than a passing interest in what a paper says, he should think of it as a mere beginning, or try to read a little between the lines. Sometimes the stories are entirely false. A paper is not a book—it is published in a hurry—and no editor has time to verify every story that comes in to it. Sometimes the writers miss the point, for it is difficult, indeed, to put in a few simple words what the scientist himself
needed a chapter or a book to explain.
Sometimes they hit the mark with amazing skill. Often they dwell on the more spectacular side of things, because that is what the reader seems to want. But they rarely give more than a snap shot picture of the facts.

And so the reader, who is really interested, should go beyond the newspapers, get in touch with the scientists themselves, or some one who tells of their work more slowly and at greater length. Every high school teacher can give the names of men who really count in his own particular specialty, and he knows what journals can be depended on for articles and discussions and reviews of the best books; and, of course, it is the business of the public libraries to give just such information.

If one already has a book, it is worth while to notice when it was written (for scientific publications soon get out of date) and who the author is. A man in a responsible position can't afford to make reckless statements about his specialty.

The league meeting in Rome is merely spring practice. The season won't open until Sam joins the team.

BRINGING UP FATHER.

UNBECOMING

"Nay but you, who do not love her,
"Is she not pure gold, my mistress?"
"Holds earth aught—speak truth—
above her?"
"Aught like this tress, see, and this tress?"

Everybody wants to tell of his love
and his hates, his woes and his fears.
But prudence or modesty or dignity may forbid, and then the feeling is bottled up—until something happens to increase the pressure, when out it comes with a bang. Or one may find a way to unobscure himself that does not seem so crude or dangerous or in-delicate as a direct confession.

Browning's lines say things that one would be laughing at for blurring out in press and in the musical cadence
of "In Memoriam" Tennyson shows his heart wide open. In song one can do the same, even though it be the ridiculous German "Song of Hate."
And one can do it also with the aid of Ouija. A young girl trembles to tell of a fluttering love, and in the atmosphere of mystery with which the board has been surrounded, under the guise of scientific experiment, and knowing that she can always claim that it was some spirit of her partner's hand that moved the pointer, she lets herself spell out confessions or compromising questions that her lips would never utter.

Ouija has much to teach—not about spirits or the supernatural—but about the mysteries of the human heart.

MOVIES

Of the 110,000,000 persons in the United States, it is safe to say $8,000-000, or four-fifths, go to the movies.

This includes men and women, and children as young as four years.
The effect of movies, then, from a propagandist's standpoint, on the lives of the people, must be tremendous. It is not an exaggeration to venture that this power, which has sprung into being within the past ten years, ranks with newspapers in influence with human beings.

Therefore, America must be guaranteed only the best pictures, from a moral viewpoint, if from no other. Of late, pictures have seeped through boards of censorship which should have gotten no farther than the eyes of the members of these boards.

It is very well to brag that there must be freedom of this and freedom of that, but some moving picture producers take advantage of the weaknesses of men and women and youths.
Movies are splendid things; they furnish amusement to the masses at a fairly reasonable sum, amusement to many who possibly could not afford anything better.

The situation is a call to writers of clean, strong plots and human characters. Their responsibility is tremendous.

AMERICAN

A noted American once was asked by a foreigner to name something in America which thoroughly typified the make-up of the country. He thought a few minutes and then replied:
"Baseball."
"Baseball!" said the amazed foreigner, "that is a game!"
"Baseball," repeated the American,
"more than any other one thing in the country embodies the spirit of the people."

"A baseball game contains team play, fairness, honesty, winning spirit, pep and individual stardom."
"That is what America stands for.
We are united as a people and every insidious effort to tear us apart will fail; we demand fair play—we would not have been in the war were it not for that; we insist upon honesty; we admire the winning spirit; we want pep; and we encourage individual stardom."

"That is why baseball has reached the heights it has in the United States."
Deschanel was right in refusing his wife permission to accept that $5000
bat. He knows who will have to buy the next one.

As the country understands Benson,
he didn't say it and didn't mean it,
and Sims had no business repeating it.

ADVENTURES
OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS FOLLOW BEN BUNNY

After Nancy and Nick left Scramble Squirrel sitting safely away up in the top of the alder tree out of reach of Fleet the Fox, they hurried to Ben Bunny's house to see how he felt about exchanging his ears for Scramble's bushy tail.

For some reason he had been delayed and was just reaching home as the twins arrived. So they hid behind a nearby bush because they didn't wish to be seen. They had promised Rubadub, the fairyman, to find out if Ben was really happy about losing his ears, and this was the best way they could think of to do it.

Mrs. Blossom Bunny was washing the dishes when he arrived and when he rushed into the kitchen swishing Scramble's long tail for very joy at getting home.

Mrs. Bunny had such a turn that she dropped her best salad bowl and smashed it to smithereens.

home again, Mrs. Bunny had such a turn that she dropped her best salad bowl and smashed it to smithereens. "Good land alive!" she cried, dropping into a chair, "but you did scare me, Scramble Squirrel. You don't generally come in without knocking and I thought you were a burglar at first."

Ben Bunny laughed at that. "Take a good look at me, Blossom," he suggested, "and see who you think I am."
So Blossom looked hard. She even put on her specks, and when she saw who it was, her own husband, Ben, without his beautiful ears and with a regular scrubbing brush of a tail, instead, she couldn't speak for amazement.
"I traded with Scramble," he explained, "for several reasons. First of all I can get away from the fox easier without those everlasting long ears to give away my hiding place. And second, because perhaps I can learn to climb a tree with this fine tail to balance me. Besides, you'll find it useful to clean house with. Some dustbrush, eh?"

Health
Advice

Health Questions Will be Answered

S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

One of the big after-the-war problems has devoted upon the United States Public Health Service, which has been charged with the care of all discharged disabled soldiers, marines and war nurses.

Although it seems only a short while since the army was demobilized,
the Public Health Service is now carrying for over 14,000 former members of the military establishment in its hospitals, a larger number than are being cared for in the army hospitals. About 5,000 of these patients are in hospitals
actually owned by the Public Health Service. The remainder are in private hospitals in various cities, where the hospital has entered into a contract to care for the men. This does not take into consideration the large number of

"out-patients," that is, discharged soldiers who pay daily visits to the office of a Public Health Service doctor or to the dispensary, men who are still able to be up and around.

Just as rapidly as possible hospitals are being constructed to provide facilities for the patients who are now in private hospitals and the normal expansion that is expected within two years. By the end of 1921 the service expects to have 30,000 soldiers patients in its hospitals.

Almost any man, or woman, who served in the military establishment under enlistment, or commission, is entitled to free hospital care and medical attention, provided the disability or ailment is attributable to military service. While in the hospital as a beneficiary of the War Risk Insurance the patient receives compensation for total disabilities.

One of the big difficulties experienced by the Public Health Service is getting in touch with the men who are entitled to free treatment. Almost every day an application is sent in from some one who had been spending

LET'S NOT BRAG—LET'S ADVERTISE!

When you have smashed the line, or saved the nation,
When you have climbed the icy Matterhorn,
When you have hit the bulls-eye of Creation,
When you have grown the record yield of corn,
When you have skinned the crowd which tried to skin you,
You naturally want the crowd to know,
When you have scooped the world, there's something in you
As hard to smother as a rooster's crow,
But take my tip—however much you prize it,
Don't brag about your stunt, but advertise it!

How many a man you've known both wise and witty,
But wasted wit too much in bragging of it,
How many a favored woman would be pretty,
But loves her face so much you cannot love it,
None of like this being told forever
That wit is wit and beauty beauty. No:
We like to think we, too, are somewhat clever
At finding two-times-two is really so.
This, then, the remedy—let me advise it:
Boast not your chiefest charm, but advertise it!

Now, I know poets who would give an eye-tooth
To write, well, say as I do, if you please.
It's not their fault they cannot paint a high truth
In words which stick and stay with you, like these.
Nor is it my fault that I have the fashion
Of putting in this puff the way I do;
It's merely that I know your own pet passion,
Because I'm just a common dub, like you,
You see I do not brag; no, I despise it;
I merely write the stuff—and advertise it!

Smile Awhile

BY LEE HINGSTON

I looked to Wall Street and I said, "Why should I toil until I'm dead to merely keep alive? No longer a conservative, from this here moment I shall live, I will invest and thrive, "straightway I garnered Barefaced Steel, I went short on Virginia Reel, said I, "The lambkins bleat; their wool is taken all away, more wise than these, I will be a Napoleon of the Street." Sometimes I bought and sometimes sold, I saw the stuff I got for gold now rise, now fall; Dame Fortune gave me sudden slights yet lured me on, and there were nights I didn't sleep at all. About me on all sides I saw the workings of the ancient law when Chance shall keep the score, and hopes as bright as summer skies grew dim as when the sunset dies and went to come no more.
This mad existence could not last, life in the market is too fast, too highly tuned a song; already you can see, you say, how I sank ruined in the fray, but that is where you're wrong, I weathered every cunning blow, just what the gods hold we don't know, on their immortal knees; I made the fortune I desired, sold out my holdings and retired, and now I live at ease.

ANSWERED.

Q.—What is meant by the term
"French itch"? Is it contagious?
Where can I get a copy of a soldier's citation paper, for I have lost my boy's citation?

A.—The term "French itch" is apparently being applied to a number of different skin diseases. Most of those which we have investigated are cases of scabies. Some are cases of pedi-culosis (lice). Both of these are caused by vermin, and are, therefore, readily communicated from person to person. Rather than advising you as to treatment, it is suggested that you consult your family physician and have him determine the exact nature of the itch. You can probably obtain a copy of your son's citation by addressing the Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C.

30 YEARS AGO IN
DIXON TELEGRAPH

James Goble of Harmon transacted
business in Dixon.

Elwin Bunnell of North Dixon left for Denver for an extended visit.

"Builder McAlpine has a score of men at work remodeling Therin Cim-mins' residence. Decided improvements in that pleasant North Dixon residence are being made."

had been showing a divided interest in the whole matter, as if his anxiety about Bob were made less acute by another anxiety. Finally he summoned Spence to consider the state of the barometer. Spence turned from the nautical instruments to study the sky.
"I'm no sailor myself," he said.
"And no weather prophet, either. Certainly I know nothing about the clouds in Mexico. But I know smoke when I see it, thank God. There's some, now!"
"We've been drifting south a bit, I guess," said Travers. "And, perhaps we can make the look-out on that freighter take notice of us."
In answer to our patient signaling
the freighter turned at last and steamed toward us. She was bound for Brazil. She would take us on board, but not back to the harbor. We agreed that we didn't want to be rescued on such terms. We would be just as grateful for a little oil.
"Better come on deck," urged the captain. "I look for a storm." He spoke in slow and precise English, which gave us his words a portentous significance.

"Think it will be much of a blow!"
called up Spence, while Travers looked to the transfer of the oil.
"The comfort of the ladies in that little craft," the captain replied, rather evasively, I thought. "If you do care to come aboard, I will wireless the shore and get the coast guard to look out for you. But my advice is to—to accept my hospitality." It seemed to me that the good man was speaking anxiously rather than cordially. And I fancied that the two doctors would gladly have accepted his invitation.
Not that they wanted to go to Brazil, by any means. They wanted to get rid of their responsibility for the lives of the Lorimer women.

JUST JOKING

IT'S ONLY FAIR

In the wild and woolly west a game of poker was in progress. A tender-foot, looking on, saw one of the players deal himself four aces from the bottom of the pack. The tenderfoot whispered indignantly to another onlooker:

"Did you see that?"
"What?" asked the other.
"That swindler dealt himself four aces!" the tenderfoot hissed.
"Waal," was the astonished reply.
"Wasn't it his deal?"—Blighly.

STUCK TO HIS FEET

Food Controller Hoover said at a

of sugar, up he sneaks and swipes
it!"—Detroit Free Press.

BROWNS OUTCLASSED BY PROFESSIONALS IN SUNDAY'S GAME

Union Giants Won From "Our Boys" in Inter- esting Contest

The Union Giants, of Spring Valley, were too strong at the bat and in the box for the Dixon Browns in yesterday afternoon's game as a result the locals were defeated, narrowly averting a shut out by shooting two runs across in the last inning. Those two were all Dixon could grab, while the visitors were gathering in eight.

But despite the fact that the Giants had the edge on Manager Drake's bunch it was a decidedly interesting game for the spectators, the coaching of the Giants being very amusing, and they were continually pulling something in the field.

The Browns played a good game against their skillful professional opponents, and Elliott pitched a swell game, even when his support wobbled. The Browns started out like winners in the first session. Whitebread went out, Poole to Turner, but McGee placed a single into right field and Curran followed with a two bagger over the left field fence, which under the ground rules held McGee on third, where he was doubled when Devine lined to Jones. From then until the eighth the Browns did little at bat, but in the eighth they threatened to score and managed to break the row of goose eggs in the last.

During the game Curran, Elliott and Burch lifted the ball over the left field fence for doubles, and Williams hit for three bases in the seventh, scoring two men on his drive. The score:

Peace Resolution is Again Put up to House

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 17.—The Republican peace resolution adopted Saturday by the senate, but in different form, went back today to the house where it originated. Chairman Porter of the foreign affairs committee was prepared to ask that it be sent to conference and there was no indication of opposition. Republican leaders said differences would be ironed out so that it might go to the President this week.

Democrats and Republicans are agreed that the President would veto it, the former asserting that it would die then through failure to obtain a two-thirds vote for re-passing.

JOAN OF ARC IS MADE SAINT BY BENEDICT IN IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Brilliant Spectacle Marked Canonization of French Shepherdess

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Rome, May 16.—Joan of Arc, the shepherd lass, who in 1429 was called from the peaceful fields of Domremy to lead the armies of France to victory against the English and Burgundians, today was exalted to sainthood. Thirty thousand persons witnessed the rite in honor to the meek girl whose leadership founded modern France and whose life inspired the allied world during the great war just closed.

Impressive ceremonies marked the addition of her name to the roll of the saints. After Pope Benedict had been enthroned in St. Peter's dignities of the church advanced and voiced the claim that the pontiff should inscribe the name of Joan of Arc in the sacred list. Monsignor Galli replied for the pope, saying he must first invoke divine blessing on the event. Then chaplains intoned the litany of the saints. Pope Benedict listened to a second and third request from officials of the canonization, Monsignor Galli answering that, as the pope was convinced "this thing was pleasing to God, he had decided to pronounce the sentence of canonization."

Then Pope Benedict announced to the Catholic world the solemn fact of the addition to the body of the saints of Joan of Arc, ordered in the name of the Holy Trinity that her memory be held in pious devotion by the church and called upon surrounding ecclesiastics to witness the fact. He at once directed the consistorial advocate to draw up the deed of announcement and he left the throne intoning a deum.

The bells of St. Peter's announced the happy event, and the bells of all the churches of Rome answered. The rite was concluded by celebration of mass by the pope, who concluded his part of the ceremony with an oration on the life of the new saint, and as he spoke a picture of Joan of Arc, placed behind the high altar was unveiled.

re-formed and slowly returned to the vatican, passing through reverent, weeping throngs which again received the apostolic benediction. Great emotion was shown by members of the family of Joan of Arc, who had placed in a tribune with members of the French senate and chamber of deputies, municipal councillors and other French pilgrims who came to Rome for the canonization.

Seldom has Rome seen a more brilliant spectacle than that witnessed in St. Peter's today. Priests and monks in black, brown and white robes headed the procession, followed by ecclesiastics intoning special prayers and hymns composed for the occasion. Then came richly colored banners showing scenes from the life of Joan of Arc. Following close behind were lay and religious members of the pontifical court and the six-time choir, singing "Ave Marie Stella." Then came chaplains who carried the papal mitre and triple crown on crimson cushions, which preceded but a short distance the papal cross.

Archbishops and patriarchs wearing their mitres, jeweled crosses and rich brocades were attended by Knights of religious orders. Then came cardinals, the figure of Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, Mass., towering above the rest.

All these led up to the appearance of the pontiff, who with his upraised hand bestowed the apostolic blessing on the multitude.

Among those seen in the procession were Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of San Francisco, several American bishops, priests and all the students at the American college in Rome.

Nickey Arnstein is Placed on Trial for Contempt of Court

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, May 17.—Julius W. (Nicky) Arnstein faced charges of contempt in federal court late today as the first move in what is expected to be a long legal battle in connection with New York's $5,000,000 bond plot. He must show cause before Judge Knox why he should not be committed in jail for failure to answer questions by attorneys for the security companies which instituted bankruptcy proceedings in an effort to recover stolen securities. Shortly after Arnstein had surrendered to the police on Saturday he was questioned by a commissioner in bankruptcy but declined to answer.

W. J. Cahill went to Chicago this morning for a short business visit.

BAPTISTS BLAME MOVIES FOR EVIL OF DIVORCE HERE

Would Have Govern- ment Take Control of Marriage Laws

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 17.—Moving pictures, lax laws and intemperance are blamed for the numerous divorces in the United States by the committee of temperance and social service in its report to the Southern Baptist convention today. Enactment of a uniform code of marriage and divorce laws was recommended.

Quoting from government statistics on the number of divorces obtained annually in the country the report shows that in 1918, when the last figures were gathered, there were 112,034 divorces.

Where later figures available, the report continued, the picture doubtless would be darker still, certainly this would be true of 1919 owing to the large number of hasty and foolish marriages contracted during the war.

BLAME MOTION PICTURES
As a primary cause of "this sad condition" the report denounces the motion picture as now produced, declaring that "nearly every film put upon the screen contains somewhere some evil suggestion. Many of the films are based on the 'eternal triangle' and the suggestion of disregard if not an open breach of the marital relation."

His Marriage Laws
Many of the marriage and divorce laws of the states are described as "foolishly absurd."

Amendment to the constitution to give the federal government control over the matter is suggested but owing to the time this would require, legislative enactment in the several states is recommended in the meantime.

The report recommends among other things the publishing of the marriage bans for at least thirty days before the rite can be celebrated; physical examination of each party by a physician and the establishment of a uniform code which as nearly as possible "should come to the basis of Bible teaching concerning the ground of divorce with the right of re-marriage and that in all other cases when divorces be granted it be without the right of re-marriage."

ALFRED H. EMERSON, owner of big stock farm, who says Tanlac built him right up after having a bad case of Flu, which left him in awful bad shape. Says Tanlac is only medicine that helped him.

"I have taken only one bottle of Tanlac, but it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken put together," said A. H. Emerson when he called at Guppy's Drug Store, Portland, Me., the other day. Mr. Emerson lives near West Scarborough, Me., where he owns and operates one of the largest stock farms in that section of the country.

"After I got up from the flu last winter I was in mighty bad shape," he continued. "I was not only in a weakened, debilitated condition, but I also suffered awfully with indigestion. My stomach was so weak I could hardly digest anything and could hardly bear the sight of food, much less eat anything. As I was not able to eat any nourishing food I kept getting worse and worse and I was badly discouraged over my condition as it looked like I would never get my strength back again. My nerves were all upset and my sleep was broken and irregular. I felt tired and worn out from morning until night and could hardly drag one foot after the other."

"I took many different kinds of medicine but nothing did me a particle of good until I began taking Tanlac. As I said before, I have taken only one bottle, but it has made such a remarkable change in my condition I feel like a different person altogether."

My appetite is splendid now and I can eat anything I want without the slightest touch of indigestion. My strength and energy have returned. I sleep sound and get up in the mornings feeling ready for a big day's work. Tanlac has put me back on my feet and everybody certainly ought to know about this medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Dixon by Public Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggists in every town.

Chicago Coliseum Turned Over to G.O.P.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 17.—The Chicago Coliseum was turned over to the Republican national committee this morning and work started on the alterations necessary for the big convention June 8. Offices of the committee and convention leaders will be ready for use on May 31 when the national committee begins hearing contests.

One hundred and four contests have already been filed and in addition a half dozen states have elected more delegates than they are entitled to under the convention call, with the result that the contest committee will have to eliminate part of the delegations under the contest rule.

WATERING A GARDEN.
Never sprinkle the garden with any apparatus that throws the water on the leaves of the plants.

But with a hoe draw a shallow trench either between the rows or near the row in such a manner as not to injure any plant roots, allow the water to flow and stand in the trenches until it has soaked down to where the plant roots feed, 10 to 15 inches.

When plants are transplanted set the plants in the hole in moist soil, filling the hole one two-thirds full, then fill with water and after this has soaked in thoroughly fill up with mellow dirt.

CULTIVATION.
Cultivation is the life of the garden and must be faithfully practiced. A garden kept well cultivated can get along with half the water as one not.

THE SILVER LINING
Berlin, May 15.—The men of Berlin are offered free shaves, hair cuts, singes and shampoos and the women free hair washes, waving and curling by the striking hair dressers who have opened 40 temporary establishments in the city with the view of serving their old customers.

Besides more pay the strikers, who number 3,400 or about 75 per cent of the trade, demand Sunday off and new regulations concerning apprentices.

The reaping hook or sickle is the earliest tool for harvesting grain of which there is record.

Allenhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Allenhu relieved at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed all druggists to guarantee it in every instance.

$200,000 Fire Burns Princeton U. Bldgs.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Princeton, N. J., May 15.—Two of Princeton's University's most noted buildings, Dickinson Hall and Marquand chapel, were destroyed by fire last night.

Sparks driven by a high wind set fire also to the roof of McCosh Hall, the largest recitation hall in the country, but the structure was saved after a hard battle.

Costly memorials and memorial windows in the chapel are gone, including St. Gaudens' bronze, one of his most beautiful works. The total damage is estimated at $200,000.

The most practiced ear cannot distinguish in one second more than from nine to twelve successive sounds.

Do not attempt to work the soil up against the plants, but keep surface level. And avoid cultivating so deep as to disturb the roots of plants. Much irreparable damage is done by "too deep" cultivation, especially to beans, tomatoes, egg plants, peppers and vines. And thousands of choice roses are annually destroyed by same method.

Don't allow any ground to lie idle where radishes, spinach, etc., grew in spring. You can set tomatoes, peppers and egg plants, or you can plant beans, corn or melons.

After you have the garden planted, find room for a few hills of popcorn for the children, and if you have none plan as follow-up crop after early radishes, spinach, beans or peas. And after you have gathered your peas plant the same ground in field peas, such as cream peas, lady peas, black-eye peas or crowder.

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poisons Start to Leave the System Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if two bottles of Allenhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ASK DEBS' FREEDOM

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 15.—A petition for general amnesty for political prisoners, including Eugene V. Debs, recently nominated by the Socialist party as its candidate for president, was to be presented at the white house today by a committee appointed by the Socialist convention at New York.

Secretary Tammany was to receive the committee late in the day and present the petition to the President.

Do you feel weak and unequal to the work ahead of you? Do you still cough a little, or does your nose bother you? Are you pale? Is your blood thin and watery? Better put your body into shape. Build strong!

An old, reliable blood-maker and herbal tonic made from wild roots and barks, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This "nature remedy" comes in tablet or liquid form. It will build up your body and protect you from disease germs which lurk everywhere. One of the active ingredients of this temperance alterative and tonic is wild cherry bark with stillingia, which is so good for the lungs and for coughs; also Oregon grape root, blood root, stone root, Queen's root, all skillfully combined in the Medical Discovery.

These roots have a direct action on the stomach, improving digestion and assimilation. These herbal extracts in the "Discovery" aid in blood-making and are best for scrofula. By improving the blood they fortify the body against an attack of grip or colds.

Catarrh should be treated, first, as a blood disease, with this alterative. Then, in addition, the nose should be washed daily with Dr. Pierce's Catarrh Remedy.

Send 10c for trial pkg. of Medical Discovery Tablets or Catarrh Tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

It will build up your body and protect you from disease germs which lurk everywhere. One of the active ingredients of this temperance alterative and tonic is wild cherry bark with stillingia, which is so good for the lungs and for coughs; also Oregon grape root, blood root, stone root, Queen's root, all skillfully combined in the Medical Discovery.

These roots have a direct action on the stomach, improving digestion and assimilation. These herbal extracts in the "Discovery" aid in blood-making and are best for scrofula. By improving the blood they fortify the body against an attack of grip or colds.

Catarrh should be treated, first, as a blood disease, with this alterative. Then, in addition, the nose should be washed daily with Dr. Pierce's Catarrh Remedy.

Peoria Mayor Wishes for Old City Powers

Peoria, Ill., May 15.—The second day of Peoria's street car strike found no indications of an early settlement. Neither the Peoria Railway company, the men or the city had made any move toward ending the strike, each apparently playing a waiting game. There was no trouble. "If the public utilities commission was out of the business and we had our old franchise rights, the street cars would be running by night," Mayor E. N. Woodruff said this morning, as he pointed out the lack of power the city has in controlling public utilities under the present law. The mayor late yesterday sent notice to H. E. Chubbuck, general manager to resume service under its franchise, but there has been no move on the part of the company to start the cars. All sorts of vehicles were in use this morning getting workers to the downtown section. Big industrial plants and department stores had trucks running on regular routes to carry their employees. HOW TO RAISE BABY CHICKS Put Avicol in the drinking water. Most people lose half of every hatch, and seem to expect it. Chick cholera or white diarrhoea is the trouble. The U. S. Government states that over half the chicks hatched die from this cause. An Avicol tablet placed in the drinking water, will positively save your little chicks from all such diseases. Inside of 48 hours the sick ones will be as lively as crickets. Avicol keeps them healthy and makes them grow and develop. They have grown wonderfully. It costs nothing to try Avicol. If you don't find that it prevents and promptly cures white diarrhoea, chick cholera and all bowel diseases of poultry, tell us and your money will be refunded by return mail. Avicol is sold by most druggists and poultry remedy dealers, or you can send 25c or 50c today for a package by mail postpaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 385 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

ESCAPED AN OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many Such Cases.

Cairo, Ill.—"Sometime ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me. I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly a grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this but the above letter, and many others like it, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.
